OERcamp.global 2021 Unconference on OER

OER is all about sharing – and why should we stop at geographical borders? We will gather for a 48-hour unconference with practitioners, activists, scientists, nOERds and novices from around the globe.
Let's celebrate OER! Let's share our knowledge, experiences and resources! Let's get to know each other, as individuals, as organisations, globally! Let's talk about our projects, our aims, our hopes, and also about our doubts and challenges.

What is the OERcamp.global?

The OERcamp is a BarCamp on Open Education and Open Educational Resources (OER). "BarCamp" means that everyone can contribute to the programme by submitting their sessions. It is a user-generated (un-)conference. A BarCamp is not only about sharing knowledge: Open issues, ongoing activities and joint reflection can take place in sessions, as well. It's about sharing and co-creating knowledge, the open way!

The event communication will be in English. Workshop sessions in any other language are highly welcomed!

Participate! Present! Promote!

Participate in the OERcamp.global between 9 and 11 December. Register now goto.oercamp.global

Present your work, share your experiences. Submit your session present.oercamp.global

Promote the event, spread the word within your communities. promote.oercamp.global

How will it work?

The opening session of OERcamp.global will start on 9 December at 1 pm UTC+0. We will have 48 hours of sessions and plenary hours, so that everyone can choose the time of the day (or night) to participate in the event.
(Please find the 48 hours in UTC+0 at the foot of this page.)

OERcamp.global will take place in a format called BarCamp. This unconference format invites everyone to contribute to the programme. It's an open and participatory event, built of user-generated sessions.

More on OERcamps

OERcamps open up new and contemporary formats for learning based on openness, sharing, personal meaning, participation and equality. They are the appropriate format of education for a time in which we are depending on not only transferring fixed knowledge but also co-creating new knowledge. OERcamps are about sharing, discussing, negotiating solutions for a world in perpetual change.

The OERcamp started as a grassroot movement in Germany in 2012. It has since been awarded the Open Innovation Award, mentioned in the Horizon Report, and highlighted in a UNESCO Report. Learn more about the OERcamps and visit oercamp.de/about-oercamps-in-english/
